The SPORTING WORLD

Strongest College Man.
Carl Guy Herbert is one of the most remarkable athletes in the intercollegiate world. Regardless of the fact that he is but 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs but 145 pounds, he has smashed

CARL GUY HERBERT.

ed all previous power test records and is now heralded as the strongest man to the American colleges.
Herbert is a Harvard student. When he entered college five years ago, he was but a mere stripling. His strength was little above that of the average college student. By a moderate amount of exercise, taken systematically, he succeeded in attaining his present stage of development.
The champion's strength register under the Sargent system was 1,863.5 points. In 1896 the best mark that could be reached was 805 points, a showing that can be equaled by more than 200 men now in college.

Hanan Describes His Stroke.
Edward Hanan, who is in charge of the Columbia university crew, says in regard to his stroke:

"The characteristics of my stroke are a long stride well forward, the knees bunched under the armpits, a small body reach, with the body as erect as possible. As soon as the oar dips into the water the legs are jammed down hard, the weight of the body is on the loins muscles, and the arms move in unison with the legs. When the slide is over, the hands are shot out on the recover from the body over the knees in the same position they were brought in, and the slide is again carried forward by a pull on the straps. The recover is slow and steady and less jerky than in the stroke the men used to row. In the blade work the hands are not dropped in the lap, but kept on the same level. The feather is carried back flat, and the oar is turned over smoothly for the catch, which is pronounced, as the oar meets the water at an angle of 90 degrees."

Nat Butler's Predicament.
The National Cycling association is a purely American institution and is closely allied with the American Racing Cyclists' union, which has declared a boycott against Nat Butler. The N. C. A. indorses the action by taking no cognizance of it. Butler's offense was to desert the A. R. C. U. for the L. A. W. two years ago while the fight for supremacy was on between the L. A. W. and the N. C. A. Butler was a member of the L. A. W. and then going back again to the L. A. W. To punish him for his fickleness the union suspended him for life. He has been supplicating ever since for reinstatement and has frequently been denied. That is pending matches in the belief that his case was to be decided in his favor at the next meeting of the union. Unfortunately for Butler the authority of the courts cannot be invoked in a case like this.

MOST COSTLY OF DRUGS.

Some Sell at Retail For More Than Their Weight in Gold.

"The price of many drugs used in medicine is astonishing to those who are not acquainted with the subject," remarked a druggist. "There are several that cost more than their weight in gold (about $20 an ounce), while $2, $3 or $5 an ounce are quite common prices in pharmacy. I filled a prescription the other day that cost $25. But there is one drug that I can recall which is worth much more than its weight in gold. That is pseudo-phosphorus. I don't think that it has a popular name. It is too rich for that. In the pharmacists' list it is quoted at $1 a grain, or $437.50 an ounce. The seed from which the drug is made grows in India and Brazil, as well as in parts of South Africa. This seed, tradition says, was once used by native chiefs as an ordeal. The ordeal generally resulted in the death of the man upon whom it was tried and so was considered as a great truth finder. The prepared drug is sometimes used now in prescriptions for the treatment of heart disease.
"Another drug which takes the palm for costliness is, curiously enough, the one which is perhaps the most widely known by name of them all to the general public—musk. Its retail price at the present moment is about $50 an ounce, $600 a pound apothecary, or 2 1/2 times the value of pure gold, 24 carats fine. It is obtained from the musk deer, a very rare animal, and is contained in a follicle, of which there is only one in each animal, so that an ounce of the drug represents approximately one of these precious animals. As it is largely used for scent, the demand constantly exceeds the supply, and the price has been steadily advancing. There is no reason why it should not go to $250 or $500 an ounce during the next few years, as the musk deer is gradually vanishing from the face of the earth."—Kansas City Journal.

LAND FOR SETTLERS.

Facts About the Kiowa Reservation in Oklahoma.

SOIL RICH AND STREAMS ABOUND.

Chicagoan Who Has Traveled Over the Reservation Says It is One of the Best Watered Tracts West of the Mississippi—Plan to Avoid Wild Scrambles.

Down in the southern corner of Oklahoma lies a patch of Indian land with swarming lines of whites surrounding it and awaiting the word to rush in and fill it with civilization. Patch may hardly be the word, for there are about 4,000 square miles of rolling prairie. With a rich soil, few hills and many streams, it is said to be one of the fairest pieces of virgin soil known to man.

This land of promise is now the reservation of the Kiowa, Apache and Comanche tribes. Uncle Sam has made a treaty by which the Indians are to choose farms in severalty and then give up the rest of the land in exchange for $2,000,000. The president is expected to issue a proclamation within the next three months throwing open this free territory to settlement under the homestead act. Already hungry thousands of prospective settlers have flocked into the towns of Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Texas on the border of the reservation, and other thousands are in camp along the boundary line.

If old methods are followed, the grand rush will make another of the picturesque events in the history of the west. There are supposed to be more than 2,500,000 acres of land in the reservation. The Indians number about 3,000. Each of them is entitled to select a farm of 160 acres, which will require 480,000 acres. The government will also set aside for them 480,000 acres of grazing lands in one or more tracts. The Indians will therefore retain 960,000 acres, leaving more than 1,500,000 acres, possibly as many as 2,000,000, for the whites.

Henry McGurken of Chicago recently drove about the reservation in a carriage to spy out the land and bring back information that has the merit of being disinterested and competent.

"I drove from Anadarko, in the northeastern corner of the reservation, to Fort Sill and beyond and made side trips," said Mr. McGurken to a reporter of the Chicago Record-Herald. "The country impressed me as being one of the finest tracts I had ever seen. It is only cultivated by the Indians in small spots, so that most of it is virgin. The land is rolling, like that of Iowa. On the map you will find one section marked Wichita mountains, but in the far west they would rank only as hills. The Keechee hills, in the northeast corner, are insignificant affairs. It is an important fact that the reservation is covered with a network of streams, and I found these all with clear running water. It is one of the best watered tracts west of the Mississippi. Most of the streams have well defined banks five to ten feet high, and many of them have gravelly bottoms.

"In the northern part of the reservation the soil is a rich red, while farther south it is more of a black loam. It is deep and fertile, and I saw corn growing 15 feet high. There were also fine crops of cotton, wheat and grass. There are beautiful valleys in every direction and many long, grassy meadows in the bottoms of the creeks. The land south of Fort Sill appears to be richer than that to the north, and it is somewhat better watered. I spent two weeks wandering about the reservation, and I frankly admit I was delighted with it.

"It is expected the president will issue his proclamation not later than Aug. 6. The people of that section hope to avoid the old time stampede, with its jumping of claims and crime, and they have asked the authorities to allot the land by a sort of lottery. It is proposed that every one wanting to take up land shall register his name with certain officials and deposit $14 to cover the mental fees. After a stated time the books are to be opened, and the quarter sections are to be divided among the applicants by lot. This will give all an equal chance instead of giving the strong and the criminal the advantage.

"The theory in that country is that the reservation will be divided about equally into four counties, which will belong to Oklahoma. The government will reserve town sites for county seats, and the lots will be sold by auction, no one buyer being permitted to bid in more than one business and one residence lot. The government will also reserve certain lands from entry for the benefit of education. Sections 16 and 36 of each township will be reserved for the common schools and sections 13 and 32 for the university, agricultural college, normal school and public buildings of Oklahoma.

"There is a strong impression in Oklahoma that the chief town in the new country will be located near Fort Sill, probably somewhat to the south of it in order to get the benefit of a stream with a good flow of water. They are already talking of a probable town of 10,000."

Russia's Great Canal Scheme.
United States Consul Hughes of Coeur d'Alene informs the state department at Washington that a canal to unite the Caspian and Black seas is under consideration. The projected canal will be 23 feet deep and about 150 feet broad. It will begin at Astrakhan, on the Caspian, and end at the harbor of Taganrog, on the sea of Azof. It is estimated that the cost will be about 40,000,000 rubles ($20,000,000).

How the Artist Was Called.
When Henry S. Watson, the illustrator, landed at Naples, he did not know much about European travel. He had to make some sketches in the villages about Naples, and his experiences have filled him with wonder enough for a lifetime. His deft pencil helped him to get it through the landlord's head that he was to be called early in the morning. He couldn't make himself understood. At last he drew a picture of himself lying in bed, the sun peeping through the window, the clock at the hour of 6 and the chambermaid knocking at the door. Then it was quite plain, and they woke him on the tick.—Saturday Evening Post.

Ball Baiting.

Although bull baiting was a cruel pastime, it was also a fulfilling of the law, for formerly no butcher was allowed to offer for sale the flesh of any bull that had not been baited. The goading of the animal in a fury was supposed to have some influence on the flesh. In a similar belief the flesh of a hunted hare was thought to be superior in flavor to that of one that had been shot, and a present of a "hunted hare" was considered to be a special compliment. In the records of the corporation of Leicester, England, the following order appears: "That a common hall, held on Thursday before St. Simon and St. Jude, 1487, 'no butcher to kill a bull till baited.'" At Winchester it was ordered (thirtieth Henry VIII) "that from henceforth there shall be no bulstake set before any mayor's door to bait any bull, but only the bull-rings within the said city."

A Mule as a Life Saver.

The mine mule knows a thing or two quite as well as does the army mule. In one of the mines in the Pittsburgh district the ever patient mule proved himself possessed of an almost human sense of coming danger. One morning when the full shift was at work there occurred an unusual thing. The air currents had seemed defective, and there was a restless feeling among the miners, something like the uneasiness of live stock before a storm. A few days previous a chamber had been closed on account of gas, and the men were instinctively thinking of what that might mean. Suddenly there was a clatter of hoofs, and a single animal dashed the ever patient mule proved himself possessed of an almost human sense of coming danger. Most of the candidates who were defeated on Saturday have taken their defeat with good grace and are already in line to meet the common enemy in November.

This is simply pure Democracy. The growler who goes around telling what the result would be if it was all gone over again and saying that his successful opponent was not yet elected, is virtually admitting that he is not doing what he in honor bound himself to do, support the nominee of the primary.

All good Democrats will do all in their power to see that the nominees are elected. As for the others, they are like the poor, "Ye have them always with you."

CHARMING MME. TULLY,

OF NEW ORLEANS.

Will receive the ladies of Paris in her parlors, rooms 29 and 30, parlor floor, Windsor Hotel, from 10 to 11 A. M., every day, beginning Tuesday, May 20, and demonstrate how her electrical treatment will remove wrinkles in one application.

Ladies are invited to call any day and see that massage and steaming the complexion are things of the past.

Walk up one flight of stairs at the 'A' lies' entrance.

AMERICA'S GREATEST DERMATOLOGIST.

Madame Tully comes to Paris for a short visit at the request of ladies who have heard of the wonderful success of her treatment in other cities. It has been a long time since the ladies of Paris have had an opportunity of consulting such a scientific expert as Madame Tully. She is well named, "Charming Madame Tully," for she is a refined and handsome woman, and her superb complexion is a striking proof of the efficacy of her knowledge of dermatology.

A LEXINGTON TESTIMONIAL.

The Lexington-Leader said of Madame Tully on the occasion of her visit to that city last week:

"The accomplished Madame Tully, who has been celebrated for more than 14 years as the most advanced scientist of the land in the successful treatment of all facial blemishes and skin diseases, has arrived in Lexington and has taken apartments at the Phoenix Hotel. This charming lady is credited by the highest authorities of fashionable society with the magic power to convert permanently the wrinkles of age and all blemishes of the face into the very bloom of continual youth. She comes with trained assistants to introduce the latest European discovery, the new thermo-electric treatment, which has created so much excitement abroad by actually restoring the features, no matter how old or wrinkled or discolored by age, the plumpness and charm of sweet 16. The process is a secret, but that it is a success beyond all doubt or question in every case is not only guaranteed by Madame Tully herself, but proclaimed by the elite of Eastern and Southern society, where ladies have greeted its recent introduction with all manner of enthusiasm as a real and lasting solution of the problem of perpetual youth and beauty. Under the magic touch of the fair mistress of this art, ladies with fairly good complexions improved remarkably, and even those who have long since surrendered to the 'crow feet' or to blotches, scars or blemishes of any sort are delighted to find their features restored permanently as by enchantment after only two weeks' treatment."

A BOON TO THE LADIES.

Madame Tully has thousands of letters testifying to her skill and will be pleased to show many of them to her callers.

Everybody can be her own dermatologist with Madame Tully's treatment and appliances. She will sell complete outfits for home use, with guarantee of beneficial results.

One of Madame Tully's outfits includes electric rollers with astringents for removing wrinkles; electric cup, electric batteries, and facial skin foods.

These batteries are also successfully used for constitutional and nervous diseases.

Madame Tully will teach anybody who desire to make a profession of facial and skin treatment and supply her with outfits and all needed supplies.

TO RESTORE DISCOLORED HAIR.

Madame Tully secured on a recent visit to Paris, France, the latest and most successful treatment for restoring discolored hair to its natural color or to a dark chestnut red. Indeed, all colors of hair can be changed to this new chestnut or brownish red, that is so popular in New York and Paris, France.

Madame Tully guarantees that this Parisian preparation is not a dye, or in any way injurious to the hair, but is really a stimulant which promotes growth and gives a beautiful gloss and new life to the hair.

Scalps are treated with electricity in Madame Tully's treatment.

The next nearest guess was that of Miss Nannie K. Roberts, of Lexington, who on March 7th, guessed the entire ticket with the exception of Miss Bedford for School Superintendent.

A Gay Party.

A horseback party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Neave, Miss Harrison, Miss Longworth and Mr. Wallingford, all of Cincinnati, arrived in Paris Sunday night and stopped at the Windsor. They are making a tour of the bluegrass country, and seem to be enjoying it immensely. They left yesterday morning for Lexington, and from there will go to Danville.

Shocking Accident.

A. B. Girvin, a brakeman on the through freight between Livingston and Cincinnati, was run over and killed by his train on Saturday morning in the rear of the Windsor Hotel. The train, which left here at 1 o'clock on Saturday morning was in charge of Conductor Everett Thompson and brakemen Pierce and Girvin. As the train passed the coal chute, a negro man employed there called to Girvin that there was a man stealing a ride on the front of the train. Girvin was then on top of the train walking towards the engine. That was the last seen of him alive. When the train reached Cincinnati he was missed, and a telegram was sent to Paris to that effect. A switch engine started down the track in search of him, and when in the rear of the Windsor Hotel his body was found lying alongside the track with the head severed and on the inside of the track.

The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Davis, and his relatives consisting of a sister and two brothers, were notified. They arrived on the afternoon train from Maysville, and the remains were taken to Maysville for interment. Girvin was a young man and very popular with his fellow employees. He had been brakeman for about a year, and was attentive to his duties. He was previous to that time a newsboy on the noon train from Cincinnati.

The Democratic Primary.

The Democratic Primary held Saturday was one of the quietest elections ever held in this county. Not a single disturbance of any kind was reported. A very large vote was polled. Each candidate had workers at every precinct, and the fight was kept up until the polls closed at 4 o'clock. The following were the candidates selected to represent the Democratic party at the election next November, and it is a ticket which should assure an old-time Democratic victory:

Representative, Albert S. Thompson.
County Judge, H. C. Smith.
Sheriff, W. W. Mitchell.
County Clerk, Ed. D. Paton.
County Attorney, Denis Dundon.
Jailer, George W. Judy.
Coroner, Dr. Wm. Kenney.
Assessor, Harvey Hibler.
School Superintendent, Miss Nellie Bedford.
Constable, Joseph Williams.

Isn't it natural that when one thinks of buying furniture he also thinks of Hinton?

The Carnival.

The talk of the entire county and surrounding towns is the A. O. U. W. Carnival on June 12th. Such a crowd as will be in town on that day was never before seen in Paris. Everything has been arranged for their amusement. Early in the morning the salute of twenty-five guns will usher in the day of pleasure. The prize of a very handsome silver cup offered by A. J. Winters & Co., the enterprising jeweler, for the handsomest decorated turnout, will insure a magnificent display. It has been made a special feature of the morning, and will take place in front of the Court House at 9 o'clock.

The mammoth parade will move promptly at 11 o'clock, headed by the famous First Regiment Band of Cincinnati. The Richmond Military Band and the Carlisle Brass Band have also been engaged.

The display of day fire works in the afternoon will be worth coming from the remotest part of the State to see. The balloon ascension will be a special feature. A novelty in connection with this will be the liberating of one thousand and slips of vari-colored paper in the sky, twenty-five of which will be good for prizes contributed by our liberal merchants, and will be paid to the finders of the slips which have their advertisements printed thereon. The entertainment at the Opera House at night will be a strictly first class vaudeville affair, and will be preceded by a display of fire works. Full particulars of the entertainment will be given in the next issue of the News.

An Unfortunate Affair.

[Paris Gazette.]
For a week past rumors of marital trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Drake Thompson have been persistently circulated. Upon investigation many of them were found to be ridiculously absurd. The public should reserve its judgment until the truth is brought out which will be done shortly, Mrs. Thompson having filed a petition for divorce. The troubles are not such that friends can not adjust, and they owe it to the couple to do this. Drake Thompson is a popular young man. His habits are exemplary. He applies himself diligently to business, and there is no reason why he should not develop into one of Bourbon's leading citizens.
Mrs. Thompson is a winsome little lady, with a happy faculty for making and holding friends. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John White, and is related to several leading families of this county.

The couple were married when quite young, and it should not be surprising that differences would sometimes occur. I have a large line of samples to select suits from, for both ladies and gentlemen. Office at Davis, Thompson & Isgrig's, store. F. P. Clay, Jr. (tf)

Candidates For City Offices.

The Democratic City Committee met yesterday, and declared Mr. Geo. M. Hill the Democratic nominee for Chief of Police, and Mr. Kirby Wood the nominee for Councilman from the Third Ward, there being no opposition to either of these two gentlemen. The following are the candidates for Councilman from their respective wards, to be voted on at the Democratic primary on July 3rd:

First Ward—T. Earl Ashbrook, Hugh Montgomery, James O'Brien, Fletcher Mann, Robert Lusk and James McClure.
Second Ward—D. C. Parrish, Wm. Remington, W. O. Hinton, B. M. Renick, J. U. Boardman and T. F. Brannon.

Cincinnati is in Spring attire; now is the time to visit the Queen City. (tf)

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT.

In our next issue we will publish a partial list of those who will participate in the production of the operetta, "The House That Jack Built." The characters are all well taken and the rehearsals progressing satisfactorily. The part of "Mother Goose" will be taken by one of our most charming young matrons, who is the possessor of a beautiful, clear soprano voice and a good stage presence. The "Queen" is one of the most magnificent looking young ladies in the city, while the "King" will be the hit of the entertainment, a gentleman well-known and popular.

Remember the dates—Friday evening June 14th, and Saturday afternoon, June 15th, matinee.

Prices of admission, 75, 50 and 35 cts.

THREE seems to be a misapprehension as to who compose the Board of Health of Bourbon County, the following gentlemen compose the board: Drs. CLEARING SALE WALL PAPER
At just about one fourth of its original cost, odds and ends, lots of it by some means, unaccountable, with no border to match. There are lots of people who wish to spend only a little money in papering a room, and do not care whether the sidewall and border were made for each other, so long as the coloring is the same. Many upstairs rooms and closets are papered without border at all. We have on hand about 350 rolls of high grade paper only, strictly worth 12½ cents, which we will close out at 5 cents a bolt. Remember this is a high quality, very heavy and a rich pattern and the best bargain you ever bought.

You Do, or You Don't Need Gasses :

The eye being a rather delicate organ, great care should be exercised in the selection of proper glasses. Many believe that glasses should be restored to only when the sight becomes so defective as not to be able to do without. This is a great mistake which must be combatted. Whenever there is unmistakable evidence of the need of their aid, they should be used. A neglect of this rule sometimes produces mischief which results in serious trouble if the course be persisted in. Our Dr. C. H. BOWEN having just returned from taking a special course in Optics from one of the best specialists in New York, is prepared to do the best of work, having the latest improved methods of fitting. Examinations free. Next visit Thursday, June 13, 1901.
